

BODY OF DROWNING VICTIM TO BE SENT TO MOTHER'S HOME

Funeral of Miss Nixon, Who Died Trying to Save Friend, to Be Held Friday.

Funeral services for Miss Anne Dorothy Nixon, who met her death in the waters of the Potomac at Colonial Beach yesterday, will be held probably Friday afternoon.

Services for Frank W. Wiseman, who met death at the same time, will be held at the Wiseman home at Havana, Ill. A telegram to Mrs. Wiseman, acquainting her with the death of the boy, was sent by his friends in the Senate last night. Mrs. Wiseman has asked that the body be shipped to her and this will be done.

Following the double fatality at the river resort, the identity of Miss Nixon and Mr. Wiseman for a time was in doubt. The first reports of the drowning reaching Washington stated that Miss Ethel Brown and George Baylor, the latter a native of Chicago, were the victims. Later it was found that the names had been confused.

Miss Nixon was the youngest daughter of Richard B. Nixon, financial clerk of the Senate. She and young Wiseman were bathing from a boat off Colonial Beach yesterday afternoon, when Wiseman cried for help and sank. Though she was not a very good swimmer, Miss Nixon, eye witnesses say, dove from a rowboat and started to his assistance. Wiseman sank before she reached him, and Miss Nixon was overcome before she could get back to the boat, which was being carried upstream and inshore by a strong tide.

Though there were many bathers on the beach and persons craning on the pier, there was not a boat within 200 yards of the couple when they met their fate. Many persons went to their rescue in small boats upon hearing their cries, but none could reach them in time.

Was Engaged to Wed.

Miss Nixon and young Wiseman were members of a week-end party at the beach as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Brown. They were to have returned to the city on the evening boat. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Durean, Miss Nixon, and Mr. Wiseman. Mrs. Brown and Mr. Durean are sisters of the late Senator.

Miss Nixon was engaged to Dr. Phillip Newton, a lecturer at Georgetown University. For several months Mr. Newton has been in the Philippines on a special scientific mission for the Smithsonian Institution.

Young Wiseman has no relatives in Washington. He lived near the Nixon home at 1336 Fairmont street northwest, and was well acquainted with the family through the fact that he works with Charles R. Nixon, brother of Miss Nixon. When the beach party was formed he asked to be counted in. He was much in the company of Miss Nixon, and yesterday the two left the rest of the party to bathe from a boat in deep water.

Will Send Body Home.

Mrs. Richard Nixon, mother of the girl, was notified of the accident by wire at Front Royal, Va., where she was staying with Miss Mignon Nixon. She reached Washington ahead of the sad party on the steamer St. John's, and she collapsed when given word of the true significance of the message sent her. She is under a great deal of strain at the Nixon home, suffering from shock. Miss Eleanor Nixon, another sister, who was in the Adirondacks, is expected to arrive in Washington this evening. Mrs. Kate Marks, of Chicago, another sister, is in Washington. Mrs. Nixon is also Mrs. D. M. Binkley, a sister.

Detailed funeral arrangements have not been made. The funeral will be in the family plot at Glenwood, however. Young Wiseman was formerly a census clerk and a protégé of Senator Cullum. Since the cut in the census force several months ago he has been employed in the office of the Secretary of the Senate. His body will be sent home to his mother today.

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR CLEANER CITY

Proposal to Collect Refuse Twice Each Week to Be Taken Up by Committee.

Plans for continuing its work in improving the sanitary condition of the city are being made today by the clean city committee. The need of a refuse collection twice a week was discussed at a meeting in the board room of the District Building yesterday afternoon. A committee was appointed to discuss with the Commissioners the institution of a twice-a-week gathering of all refuse instead of a weekly one as at present.

To lessen the nuisance caused by garbage cans, which are one of the principal breeding places of flies, Mrs. E. G. Perry, of the Anthony Suffrage League, suggested that the city provide paper bags to fit inside the receptacles. The system is in use in Boston and the advisability of its adoption in Washington will be discussed with the Commissioners.

Announcement was made by Dr. Arthur L. Murray, of the Health Department, that cards are to be mailed to householders requesting that they co-operate with the committee in the work of cleaning up the city. Efforts are being made by John G. McGrath, chairman of the membership committee, to have on the committee representatives from every citizens' association and every body in the District.

The next meeting will be held October 1.

Chevy Chase Lake Still Drawing Large Crowds

These cool, refreshing evenings are ideal for trips to Chevy Chase Lake and hundreds of Washingtonians are making nightly journeys to the pretty resort. The excellent concerts by the Marine Band are receiving wider appreciation than ever before, and even when rain prevents the open-air concert, it is just as enjoyable as ever in the Casino, pending the arrival of the hour for the dancing.

Besides the popular dancing, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, and boats on the lake make their appeal to many of the visitors. The excellent car service to the lake constitutes one of the chief attractions to them.

FATHER ELLIOTT CONSIDERED WELL FITTED FOR POST

Head of Apostolic Mission House Has Long Experience as Executive.

When the Rev. Walter Elliott, C. S. P., assumed his new position as head of the Apostolic Mission House a few days ago, succeeding the late Rev. Alexander P. Doyle in that position, he was not embarrassed by failing to understand any of the details of the work.

Although Father Elliott has never been the head of the Mission House before, he was for eight years associated with the house as a priest. He is a priest of the Paulist order, the most important features in connection with the Paulist order is the training of young priests how to preach the principles of the Catholic religion to Protestants as attractively as possible. It is a finishing course in the strictest sense of the phrase. No text books are used, and but few of the theological questions are discussed. The object is to fit the young priest to tell what he has already learned to others, especially to Protestants.

Not only by his familiarity with the history of the institution and the purposes for which it was founded, Father Elliott is full of enthusiasm for his new opportunity. He realizes that the Mission House is one of the most important features in connection with the Paulist order. His work is to train young priests how to preach the principles of the Catholic religion to Protestants as attractively as possible. It is a finishing course in the strictest sense of the phrase. No text books are used, and but few of the theological questions are discussed. The object is to fit the young priest to tell what he has already learned to others, especially to Protestants.

After the theatrical production, Miss McCaffrey and Mr. Bruce will give talks on and in Esperanto.

The play to be produced is entitled "Glebe Revival," and is written principally in Esperanto, although enough English is interspersed to make it intelligible to the layman. The play is built around the inability of an American traveling salesman to speak the Esperanto language and depicts his embarrassing predicaments.

Exhibits of postcards from all parts of the world, gathered by young members of the Esperanto clubs, will be made, and literature regarding the universal language will be displayed.

Robbed in Moving.

The theft of a $150 diamond ring and several other pieces of jewelry was reported to the police today by Mrs. Mary E. Young, of 442 Pickford street northwest. The jewelry was taken several days ago while Mrs. Young was moving from another house to the Pickford street address.

ANOTHER REVISION WILL BE MADE IN LIFEBOAT SERVICE

Board of Supervising Inspectors to Take Up Discussion Soon.

A second general revision of the steamship lifeboat regulations, following the Titanic disaster, is to be made within a few days by the executive committee of the board of supervising inspectors of the Federal steamship inspection service.

Following closely upon the sinking of the Titanic and the loss of hundreds through the lack of lifeboats and rafts, the steamboat inspection service ordered that all ocean-going steamships and passenger-carrying vessels on lake, bay, and river in the United States or trading with United States ports, carry sufficient lifeboats and rafts to disembark all passengers in case of emergency.

This drastic action is to be further revised, and while no official announcement has been made, it will probably be a "revision downward."

Inspector General George Uhler, of the steamboat inspection service, and head of the executive committee, said today that the regulations were to be discussed at a meeting of the committee Friday. This revision may require more boats or it may require less, he said. It is generally understood, however, that fewer boats will be required on most classes of steamers. The rating will still be maintained on a passenger and not on a tonnage basis, as was the case with the Titanic under the British board of trade rules.

The principal topic for discussion by the committee is as to whether a larger number of boats or rafts will add to the safety of passengers, or whether in some instances a smaller equipment would not be sufficient.

Lynchburg Visitors See Uncle Sam Make Money

Uncle Sam's big money-making plant, the Library of Congress, the Washington Monument, Capitol, and Government Printing Office were the centers of interest today for the congregation of the Court Street Methodist Church, of Lynchburg, Va., which came to Washington on a two days' sight-seeing tour.

Of all the places visited, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing seemed to make the deepest impression upon the excursionists. Special guides took them all through the bureau, showing all the money-making processes. The four county superintendents in active charge of the institute are Earle B. Wood, of Montgomery, Superintendent Stephens, and Dr. Francis H. Green, of the Westchester Normal School.

The afternoon general session of the institute was supervised by Superintendent W. M. Davidson, Superintendent Stephens, and Dr. Francis H. Green, of the Westchester Normal School.

WHO WROTE ON NEW WALLS AT BUSINESS HIGH?

Maryland Teachers All Deny Marring Fresh-Tinted Surface.

Who killed Cock Robin? Who wrote on the wall at the Business High School?

This third query probably will not attain the historical importance of the first two, but, nevertheless, it is a question of some moment at the joint county institute going on this week at the Ninth and Rhode Island avenue institution.

School teachers of Montgomery, St. Mary's, Charles and Prince George counties are gathered there to the number of 400 under the supervision of Maryland's State superintendent of education, the assistant superintendent, B. K. Purdum, and the superintendents of the four counties named.

During the summer the walls in a recreation room at the Business High School were tinted a handsome dark green. The plastering in this room was an excellent piece of craftsmanship, and the lower part of the walls is wainscoted. So no wonder some class took it for a blackboard and made white chalk marks on the dark green surface.

But which class and from which county? Ask the girls from Rockville and they say it was the maidens from Upper Marlboro, in Prince George's. Inquire of the Upper Marlboro contingent, and they aver it was the Charles county girls and they in turn ascribe the fell deed to schoolmistresses from St. Mary's. And the St. Mary's county delegation says it was done by Rockville fingers. So there you are.

The afternoon general session of the institute was supervised by Superintendent W. M. Davidson, Superintendent Stephens, and Dr. Francis H. Green, of the Westchester Normal School.
